Navy Rocket Test Firing Flops Aired

Failures Revealed As New Attempts Slated This Week

By BEN FUNK
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (U.P.)—The Navy is busy in another effort to get its temperamental Vanguard rocket off the ground in the next few days. Unless it performs quickly, the Army's Jupiter-C missile may be the first to shoot up a U.S. satellite.

Informal sources disclosed that bad weather and a frustrating series of mechanical bugs in the complex Vanguard spoiled several attempts to fire it last week. The first Vanguard blew up on its launching pad here last Dec. 6.

Program Off Schedule
These failures have thrown the U.S. satellite program far off schedule. If a goal set by President Eisenhower had been met, three or four tiny American "moons" would be in orbit now and the Vanguard would be set to launch bigger satellites in March.

A curtain of secrecy surrounded the latest attempt. Facts were not made known to the public until last night.

The Air Force fired a Snark missile 5,000 miles to Ascension Island off the African coast Saturday. Informal sources said the missile "landed in its assigned impact area."

At the same time, the Navy was busy with the Vanguard. It was learned that a launching of the rocket was only a few minutes away Saturday when the attempt was postponed.

As one delay continued to run into another, the conviction grew that the Vanguard must fly soon—in a matter of a very few days—or the Jupiter-C may take off first, carrying a 29.7-pound satellite.

The Vanguard still is experimental. Its second-stage guidance "brain" never has been tested in flight. All components of the Jupiter-C have been flown and were reported to have performed well, authorities close to the Vanguard project said heavy rains—a rarity at this season in Florida—were troublesome during last week's firing attempts.

Weather Major Factor
Defective minor parts were found in the rocket during the countdown checks and had to be replaced. Something went wrong with the 6.4-inch satellite, so that it stopped sending out its radio signals.

One of Florida's worst winters has interfered with efforts to step up the U.S. missile and rocket programs. Rain washed out an attempt to fire a Thor intermediate range ballistic missile. Friday, water in underground conduits caused a power failure.

Youth Killed In Explosion

YORK, Pa. (U.P.)—A terrific explosion destroyed a home in nearby Loganville last night, killing a 15-year-old boy and injuring his mother and brother. A neighbor woman fell and broke her leg as she was running to the scene of the blast.

The blast occurred in the brick home of Henry C. Elphick, a truck driver, who started out with another son, Robert, with a load of furniture for New England, a short time before the explosion. Police and firemen recovered the body of Fred Louis Elphick from the ruins of the wrecked home.

Grain Futures Weak
CHICAGO (U.P.)—Grain futures prices were weak to lower except wheat which was fractionally higher on all deliveries except March at the opening of the Board of Trade today.

John Hoblitzell Sworn In As West Virginia Senator

WASHINGTON, D. C. (U.P.)—John D. Hoblitzell of Ravenswood, W. Va., was scheduled to be sworn in as West Virginia's junior U. S. Senator here today.

The Republican State Chairman was appointed by Gov. Underwood Saturday to fill the seat vacated by the death of a week earlier of Democratic veteran M.M. Neely of Fairmont.

Sen. Hoblitzell was to be presented to the nation's upper house by Chapman Revercomb of Charleston, West Virginia's senior senator and a fellow Republican.

Hoblitzell will serve as an appointee until next November's general election, when the voters will choose the man to fill the unexpired portion of Neely's term, which runs until January of 1961.

When his appointment was announced, Hoblitzell said he would seek the Republican nomination in the Aug. 5 primary and, if he obtained it, would run as the party's candidate Nov. 4.

Prior to his departure, Hoblitzell confirmed the appointments of two staff members. He said that Theodore T. Dorrman of Parsons, W. Va., former state institutions commissioner, would serve as an "aide" and Norman Laughlin of Spencer, weekly paper editor, would handle press relations for him.

American Mothers Return From China

HONG KONG (U.P.)—Three American mothers have returned from a visit to their sons imprisoned in Red China, weary but cheered by Chinese hints that the three men may get clemency.

The three women were unwilling to discuss the possibilities of their sons' release, but they were called a "Chinese assurance made just before they left that good behavior might bring future leniency. The three women held a news conference after their arrival from Canton.

"Hope springs eternal always," said Mrs. Ruth Redmond of Yonkers, N. Y., whose son, Hugh, 38, is serving a life sentence in Shanghai.

Asked whether she thought Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai would pardon her son, Mrs. Redmond said, "I don't think so."

Mrs. Mary Downey, of New Britain, Conn., whose son, John, 27, is serving a life term in Peiping, said she never discussed the subject of her son's release with Chinese officials during her three-week stay.

"I am extremely grateful to the Chinese Red Cross," she added. "I saw my son three times a week for two hours each time and I dined with him at our last meeting."

Mrs. Jessie Fecteau of Lynn, Mass., whose son, Richard, 30, is serving a 20-year term in Peiping, said the sons were happy but not surprised at the visit. They had been informed by Chinese authorities.

William Downey, who accompanied his mother on the trip, said Chinese authorities had informed his brother of the possibility of leniency.

"He has not given up hope and is not despondent," he said.

The mothers entered Red China 21 days ago after the U. S. government made a special concession. U. S. citizens are forbidden by their government to travel in Red China.

All three men were convicted in 1954 on spy charges. The U. S. government has denied that any of the three were espionage agents.

Plan To Beat Soviet Given Congressmen

President Asserts Security Depends On Training Young

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—President Eisenhower today sent Congress a four-year, $1,600,000,000 federal-state program of aid for education. The blueprint aims to help America beat Russia in science and technology.

The President in a special message said that the nation's immediate security aims in this space era can be furthered only by the efforts of individuals whose training is already far advanced.

If the United States is to maintain a position of leadership, he said, "We must see to it that today's young people are prepared to contribute the maximum to our future progress."

Announced By Folsom
"Because of the growing importance of science and technology, we must necessarily give special—but by no means exclusive—attention to education in science and engineering," he added.

The program Eisenhower sent to the Capitol was first announced in detail by Secretary of Welfare Folsom last Dec. 30. Among other things, it calls for granting 10,000 scholarships annually for four years, with emphasis on courses in science and mathematics.

The President also called for granting graduate fellowships to bolster teaching strength, again with emphasis on science and technology. His message mentioned no specific number of such fellowships, but Folsom said last month the program contemplates providing 1,000 the first year and 1,500 annually for each of the next three years.

Eisenhower's message contained no cost figures. But White House press secretary James C. Hagerly said the estimate remains the same as Folsom announced—about $1,600,000,000 over four years.

Of that, the federal government would contribute about one billion dollars, and the states and local communities about 600 million dollars.

Smith To Offer Bill
Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) announced he will introduce legislation tomorrow to carry out Eisenhower's education program. He voiced hope it would receive "strong bipartisan support."

But in advance of Eisenhower's special message, some Democrats already have criticized the new program as falling short of needs. Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said Eisenhower should have proposed aid for school construction again this year. Previous Eisenhower requests along this line have never gotten far in Congress.

Three Freshmen Face Trial For Wreck Attempts

ATHENS, Ohio (U.P.)—Three Ohio University freshmen will attempt to concentrate on semester examinations this week while under federal charges of attempting to derail two trains. They called the attempts a college prank.

The youths, all sons of well-to-do Cleveland area parents, returned to Athens yesterday, free on $2,000 bond each.

The bonds were posted by their fathers after the youths were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Willard C. Walker in Chillicothe and ordered held for the grand jury.

Byrd Attacks Plan To Hike Debt Ceiling

WASHINGTON (INS)—Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D) Va., of the Senate Finance Committee, proposed today to limit the increase in the national debt ceiling to three billion dollars.

The House already has approved the administration's request for a five billion dollar temporary hike in the debt limit to bring it to 280 billion dollars.

Byrd presented his plan at Senate hearings immediately after Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson filed the administration's request for the five billion increase.

The Virginia Senator said his proposal would include using 500 million dollars worth of "free gold" now held by the Treasury Department.

A Treasury official explained that the "free gold" represented a "windfall" to the government when the gold standard was dropped in 1934 and the funds are not obligated.

Before Byrd presented his plan, Anderson said he personally had no objection to using the gold if necessary to achieve the flexibility he deems necessary to run the government efficiently.

Byrd told Anderson that the administration's five billion dollar request was "unjustified unless you anticipate a deficit in the next fiscal year."

Anderson testified that the next year's fiscal forecast does not include a deficit because more tax revenue is anticipated.

Egypt-Syria Merger Seen

CAIRO (U.P.)—The merger of Egypt and Syria into a single state is reported imminent. The newspaper Al Ahras said President Nasser and Syrian President Sukhri Kuwaty would announce the union today.

Top Egyptian and Syrian leaders proclaimed the advantages of the proposed federation, and the Cairo press gave it top play. The public emphasis on the plan apparently was timed to take the edge off the opening of the Baghdad Pact conference today in Ankara, Turkey.

Al Ahras said Cairo would be the capital, the federation's name would be "The United Arab State" and there would be one government, one parliament and one army.

Rain Or Snow Due For Area

BALTIMORE (U.P.)—Five-day forecast: Temperatures will range from 3 to 6 degrees above normal with no marked daily change. Some rain or snow likely along the coast on Wednesday with rain or snow over the area on Friday or Saturday. Precipitation will average one-half inch to an inch. ## Young's Body To Be Buried Beside Child

NEWPORT, R.I. (U.P.)—The body of railroad tycoon Robert R. Young was due here today aboard his private railroad car for burial tomorrow next to the body of his only child.

The 60-year-old board chairman of the New York Central Railroad took his life with a blast from a double-barreled 20-gauge shotgun Saturday.

The body was found in the top floor billiard room of his 23-room winter mansion at West Palm Beach, Fla., by members of his household staff.

Authorities said the death was suicide. They could give no immediate reason.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at St. Mary's Episcopal Church in nearby Portsmouth, where Young was listed as a member of the parish.

Burial will be in St. Mary's churchyard next to the body of his daughter Eleanor, killed in a plane crash in Matunuck, R.I., in 1941.

Veteran Shoots Arcade Targets And Kills Self

NEW YORK (U.P.)—A despondent ex-Marine fired 17 shots yesterday at moving targets in an amusement arcade near Times Square, turned the rifle around and fired the 18th shot into his head. He died instantly.

Police identified the man from papers in his pocket as Charles Hauck, 37, Elmhurst, Queens.

One of the papers was a letter addressed to his wife Gerorgette. It complained of his illness and said she and their children—a 12-year-old son, and two daughters, 6 and 2½—would be "better off without me."

New Tension Seen Stirred In Venezuela

By LARRY ALLEN

CARACAS, Venezuela (U.P.)—New tension gripped strife-torn Venezuela today amid reports that supporters of ousted dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez might be readying a counter blow.

Apprehension increased as the ruling junta went into emergency session last night and armored cars appeared on the capital streets.

The junta proclaimed its armed forces were in full control. But peace and order remained in peril until all diehard supporters of Perez Jimenez were rounded up throughout the country.

Authorities breathed more easily, however, over word from another ousted strongman—exiled Juan D. Peron of Argentina—that he would leave Venezuela "as soon as possible."

Peron, who took refuge in the Dominican Embassy after last week's uprising, said he expected to leave tomorrow, probably for the Dominican Republic. There, dictator Rafael Trujillo has already provided a haven for Perez Jimenez.

Former political leaders driven from Venezuela during the Perez Jimenez regime began flocking back.

In the vanguard was Jovito Villalba, chief of the Union Republicana Democrata party, who claimed victory in the 1952 presidential election. Perez Jimenez chased him out of the country and declared himself elected.

Snow, Rain Due In East

By The Associated Press
Snow and rain continued to bring dismal winter weather to a vast portion of the nation today and about the only thing absent from the weather map was a cold wave.

The Northeastern quarter of the country had snow in an area stretching from the Dakotas and the upper and mid Mississippi Valley eastward through the Great Lakes and northern Ohio Valley.

As the storm moved eastward, snow and rain were reported in the southern edge of the Ohio Valley.

To the east of this snow section, there was rain and drizzle with snow in higher elevations of New England.

Dulles Airs Warning In Ankara Talk

Bombs Tossed In Anti-U. S. Attacks Prior To Session

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
ANKARA, Turkey (U.P.)—Secretary of State Dulles told leaders of the five Baghdad Pact nations today the United States will support their nations with "mobile power of great force" against any Communist invasion.

Dulles' keynote speech at the opening of the Middle East alliance's Ministerial Council meeting emphasized that any potential aggressor "knows in advance that his losses from aggression would far exceed any possible gains." But, he said, "if perchance deterrence fails" the United States will contribute its mobile power to save the people of the Middle East.

Bombs Cause Damage
The secretary of state is attending a pact conference for the first time since the alliance was formed in 1955.

A few hours before he spoke one bomb blew out the rear wall of a U. S. Embassy warehouse and another badly damaged a private bookshop—called the American Publication Book Store—near the U. S. Information Service. No one was injured.

Premier Adnan Menderes of Turkey formally opened the conference in the closely guarded Parliament building. Top leaders of the five pact members—Britain, Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan—were present. The United States, as an associate member of the alliance, also has delegates attending as observers.

Menderes had been up for most of the night personally directing the hunt for the anti-American bomb throwers and the troop and police precautions against further demonstrations. Plainclothesmen even searched the briefcases of reporters.

Dulles told the premiers, foreign ministers, generals and diplomats at the opening session that the United States will continue to provide economic aid to individual members of the pact organization.

He emphasized the Moslem members must strike a proper balance between military and economic efforts.

Turning to the question of a disarmament agreement with the Russians, he said: "The United States ardently seeks limitation of armaments on a basis of equality. But never will the United States accept the Soviet Communist thesis that men, because they are religious, must deny themselves the need to defend their religious freedom."

Hits Fanatical Group
The secretary warned against what he called the fanaticism of a "materialistic, atheistic group" seeking domination of the world.

"This fanatical group," he continued, "choosing every device without moral restraint, by use of revolution, military conquest and subversion has come to rule their part of the world and they exploit the human and material resources to extend their domination."

Envoy Outlines Soviet Thinking To Dulles Aides

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Amid signs of a stiffening Soviet line on disarmament, U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson today starts giving State Department officials his first hand views on Kremlin thinking.

Thompson returned from Moscow to begin two weeks of consultations with American diplomatic officials. This is his first trip home since last July.

Secretary of State Dulles now is attending a meeting of the Baghdad Pact in Ankara, Turkey, but Thompson will see him when Dulles flies back to Washington next weekend.

Japan Storm Toll Set At 222, Ships Missing

TOKYO (AP)—A total of 222 persons, including 170 on an inter-island ferryboat, today were believed lost in a windstorm that lashed the south and east coasts of Japan.

Seven vessels were missing despite an extensive air and sea search.

The 496-ton ferryboat Nankai missing in the sinking of a 35-ton Maru radioed the single word "Danger" yesterday about an hour after leaving Komatsujima, Shikoku, on a 38-mile crossing of the Kii Strait and the Inland Sea to Wakayama, Honshu. Winds of 50 miles an hour built waves six feet high at the time.

One rescue vessel found a life-buoy and a white tool box believed from the ferry, which was owned by Nankai Steamship Co.

The Maritime Safety Board said it was almost certain that the boat sank south of Nansha Island.

One of many ferries that cross the strait, the Nankai Maru carried 141 passengers, including at least 10 children, and a crew of 29, night from the Hotel Edison.

The No. 3 Shofu Maru ran aground and capsized about three miles off Kushimoto, 100 miles south of Osaka in southern Japan.

Five crewmen swam ashore but 22 others were believed lost.

Thirteen other persons were missing.

Brother Of Eisenhower Dies After Heart Attack

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Arthur B. Eisenhower, 71, eldest brother of President Eisenhower, died of a heart attack at his home last night.

He had had several seizures in recent years.

A retired banker, he collapsed in the bathroom while washing his hands and was dead when found by his wife Louise a few minutes later.

President Eisenhower immediately postponed a White House dinner scheduled Thursday night for the Supreme Court justices.

No Word On Rites

There was no word from the White House whether the President would attend the funeral. Arrangements for the services are incomplete.

Arthur Eisenhower started with the Commerce Trust Co. in Kansas City as an errand boy at $5 a week in 1905 and by 1934 was the bank's executive vice president.

He became vice chairman of the board in 1935. He resigned that post and as president of the smaller Plaza Bank of Commerce in November of 1956. A few weeks later he suffered a heart attack.

At the time of his death he was a director of Trans World Airlines, the Coleman Co. of Wichita, Kan., and several Kansas City firms.

Mrs. Eisenhower said they had planned to attend a TWA directors meeting in New York this week.

During his banking career Eisenhower became recognized as a national authority on flour and grain financing.

He was one of six brothers who grew up at Abilene, Kan., and was the first to strike out on his own.

A cousin at Abilene, Mrs. Ray Etherington, recalled Arthur didn't care much for books. She said he dropped out of high school, slung a green bag over his shoulder and set out to see the world and seek his fortune. He found it in Kansas City.

Dulles Aims

"That is a threat of immense proportions. We need not, however, be dismayed. The greater danger is always the danger which comes from blindness to danger."

"Today we see the danger and so long as we ally ourselves loyally with what is good and true our cause surely will prevail."

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told the conference in his opening statement: "If the Russians now have a real desire to achieve a relaxation of tension, this is because by our alliances we have defended resolutely the principles and interests vital to us."

"However, our constant aim must always be to reduce East-West tension and to seek agreement with the Soviet Union wherever and whenever this can be achieved without surrender of our vital interests."

Mendelsohn called on the United States and Britain to speed up and expand economic support for the Baghdad countries.

Meat Inspection Law Being Sought

By CHARLES R. LEWIS — West Virginia meat packing industry establishments soon would lead to a meat inspection law.

The rules setting up cleanliness standards for slaughtering, meat packing and meat processing facilities were placed into effect Jan. 2 by Agriculture Commissioner John T. Johnson.

They were devised with close cooperation of the relatively young West Virginia Meat Packers Assn. and the first inspection visits by department personnel to about 130 meat processing plants are under way.

Early results of the new program have pleased department officials. Initial inspection reports have, for the most part, shown only minor faults which must be corrected.

Meanwhile, the packers' organization headed by Richard W. Shaw of Wheeling hopes to call its board of directors together sometime in February to continue work on proposed meat inspection bills.

That meeting probably will be held in Parkersburg. The association hopes to have bills ready for presentation to the 1959 legislative session convening next January.

Johnson suggested, at a Nov. 13, 1956, meeting here at which the packers set up their state organization, that their industry would be the proper group to draw up state legislation.

West Virginia now has no meat inspection statutes, and there is no federal inspection of products at its commercial plants. Meat from its processing plants thus cannot be sold outside the state.

Both Shaw and Agriculture Department officials reiterated today that the new sanitary regulations, plus meat inspection statutes, could lead to more confidence in state meat products, lower prices for consumers, and to a more flourishing business.

Figures offered at the 1956 gathering here showed that 75 per cent of the meat consumed in the state comes from outside its borders. Housewives for the most part demand products bearing federal inspection stamps.

Inspections under the new regulations involving slaughterhouse sanitation are being carried out by seven inspectors from the Agriculture Department's food and dairy, and livestock, divisions.

The state has been divided into seven districts. Ritchie, Calhoun, Gilmer, Clay and Braxton counties currently are not embraced in any such area because the department knows of no slaughtering establishments among them.

The regulations provide for issuance of a certificate of approval to an establishment once minimum requirements are met. State Veterinarian T. C. Green emphasized that the program represents a constructive approach.

Processing and other facilities will have a reasonable time after the initial inspection to get their

W. Va. Liquor Bill Arguments Set

CHARLESTON (U) — The House Auditor Edgar B. Sims recently of the full-time enrollment the had before it for argument today, has questioned the legal grounds preceding year.

The bill also would provide uniform regulations governing the form regulations governing the provision of scholarships in reconstructed the Eiffel Tower, awards, including the number of scholarships in reconstructed the Eiffel Tower, effect at an institution at any one and TV station antennae — with time could not exceed 5 per cent toothpicks.

The issue to be threshed out as a special order of business was raised by Del. Hubbard (R-Ohio).

Hubbard's bill calls for a referendum on holding a constitutional convention to consider legalizing liquor by the drink on a local option basis. It was moved last week that the House reject the bill, raising the point of order that the subject is not within the items in Gov. Underwood's call for this session.

Hubbard counts on the provision that tax revenues from liquor by the drink, if subsequently ratified, would go for roads and schools to entitle the bill to consideration. The governor's call included road and school items.

The debate scheduled today was not on passage of the bill itself.

The Senate convened at 1 p.m. and the House at 2 p.m., as the Legislature began the last full week of the 30-day session. The adjournment deadline is midnight, Feb. 6.

The Senate had up for passage a bill to put legal authority behind scholarships awarded at West Virginia University and the 10 state colleges. The scholarships have been long awarded, but State

A PENNY EARNED

This famous adage is just as true today as it was when first formulated. We are all having trouble making those dollars stretch these days, so it is necessary to save money where we can. Thus, when sudden illness strikes and unexpected doctor and medicine bills appear, it can be a real jolt to the family budget. We think you are in for a big surprise at how low medicine bills can be if you have never had a Walsh-McCagh prescription. There is no secret behind our extra low prescription prices. It is the low overhead, quantity buying, and rapid turnover that the chain grocery stores have made such a great success. Our prices are set in advance, so that we can as easily tell you the price of your prescription before it is filled as afterwards, and we like to do it that way. Why not bring us your next prescription; you can pay more, but you can't receive better prescription service anywhere.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Looking Ahead

THE HIGH strategists of the Republican party must be having some thoughtful hours as they look ahead to the 1958 general elections. Most of the impartial appraisers don't give them much chance to capture Congress this fall. To win the House of Representatives, the GOP needs to pick up roughly 20 seats. The party deficit was 50 to 46 in the Senate until the recent death of Sen. Matthew Neely, West Virginia Democrat. If that state's Republican governor follows form and names a Republican to serve until the election, the margin will close to 49-47.

THE PROSPECT of the GOP seizing the House or Senate is considered dim by most of the political experts. Since the Democratic sweep with the Roosevelt landslide in 1932, the Republicans have won just two congressional elections out of thirteen. As a matter of fact, the GOP House triumph in 1930 was fruitless, since in those days Congress did not meet until December of the year following the election and by that time vacancies had given the Democrats control. Democratic margins in the Senate usually have been tighter than in the House, but they have been just as consistent. Only in 1946, in the aftermath of World War II, and in 1952, by a narrow squeak while President Eisenhower was building a whopping victory, did the GOP take the congressional reins.

FACED WITH this record of performance, the top Republican command may find itself asking: Are the party's ideas and programs in time with the people and the times? Is it putting up a sufficient number of able, attractive candidates? Americans interested in the basic health of both major parties will be just as concerned as GOP leaders in getting straight answers to those questions, and in hearing plans for sound remedial steps if the reply in either or both instances is unfavorable.

Safety Measure

IT IS GRATIFYING to hear that the major airlines have succeeded with their self-imposed plan to bring added safety to commercial air travel along some of the country's busiest airways. The plan was formulated jointly by the Airlines Air Transport Association and the Airline Pilots Association. It provides that in the triangle of routes from New York to Washington to Chicago, all commercial craft flying above 9,500 feet must follow instrument flight rules, stick to federally designated airways, and file their flight plans with traffic control centers. Since the standard four-engined ships used by most airlines normally fly above 9,500 feet, the plan embraces a high percentage of the traffic in this triangle. It was feared at the outset that the attendant monitoring work might swamp control centers and cause many flight delays, but it has not. So well has the arrangement worked, in fact, that the major carriers are considering extending it to other principal air routes. As a plan of proven effectiveness, it has earned wide respect. In the name of greater air safety, it should indeed be spread across a wider network.

Rewards For Merit

WHAT DO A lighthouse keeper, a featherweight boxing champion, a coroner and a nuclear scientist have in common? All these, and others with achievements as varied, have received honors from the British government. Every New Year's the monarch gives awards to persons who have excelled in some particular line. These awards are various. Some may become peers, some are knighted. Some are made members, officers or commanders of the British Empire. Some get British Empire medals. Now and then one is made a Companion of Honor, an order limited to 65 members. Only occasionally one receives the highest of all honors, the Order of Merit, limited to twenty. This rewarding of the pursuit of duty is highly commendable. Our nearest approach is in the honorary degrees given by our colleges. These, however, are much more limited in scope. Some general program of national honors for work well done in a variety of fields might not be a bad idea for this country.

Flare-up In Probe Backed By Rayburn

WASHINGTON—Speaker Sam Rayburn has been, in his own vernacular, "at the burning" of every regulatory agency of the government except the Interstate Commerce Commission. He considers them one of his most valuable legacies to the American people.

Of late the Speaker became convinced that they are now dominated by men who are out of sympathy with their objectives and do not understand how to make them function in accordance with the will of Congress. He, therefore, decided it was high time the House took a new look at them.

RAYBURN does not like special investigating committees. Experience has suggested to him that they are instigated by publicity seekers for publicity purposes. It was, therefore, arranged that a subcommittee should investigate the regulatory agencies.

Committee Chairman Oren Harris named Representative Morgan Moulder to head the subcommittee; Moulder chose Dr. Bernard Schwartz, professor of law at New York University, to be its counsel. The House gave it $250,000 for the job.

The subcommittee has been slow to get off the ground. Now it has burst into the news with oblique but clear implications from a subcommittee source that it is somehow desired to spare the Federal Communications Commission from embarrassment. The Speaker's nephew, Ross Bartley, is an FCC member.

WHAT happened is that the subcommittee refused to start public hearings with a memorandum from counsel Schwartz, stressing unethical conduct, such as personal favors received from industry members, on the part of the FCC commissioners. Instead, the subcommittee majority voted for a "general survey" hearing which would bring in heads of six government agencies, including FCC.

The Schwartz memorandum was promptly leaked to the New York Times.

Back of this not unfamiliar pattern of events is a story of personal difficulties and misunderstandings.

THE SPEAKER and Chairman Harris want a probe that goes to the heart of the matter. They wish all independent agencies were manned by ethically sensitive men, and they are willing to have any such failures discussed in the course of the hearings.

What the Speaker is determined not to have is what he terms privately "a fly-specking scandal story." He is deeply aware that the power of economic life and death over major industries is vested in the regulatory agencies he has helped to create. He apparently felt that the Schwartz approach was not sufficiently fundamental.

Youth and age are part of the picture. Schwartz is young—35—able and idealistic. The Speaker, from the apex of his long experience, demands an honest job truly done, but he will forgive much.

EXPERIENCED men in Congress suggest a technical reason for the present flareup. They believe that no investigating committee does a proper job when it is dominated by counsel instead of the chairman. They like and respect Moulder, but they have noticed that he does not work very hard. They suggest he did not give Schwartz the firm direction necessary for so large an enterprise.

Certainly no hearings in many years have created a greater social and economic potential than those projected for the Moulder subcommittee. Its task now appears to have been greatly complicated though Representative Harris, who is also a subcommittee member, has promised full steam ahead on the project.

Ike's Report May Bring Tight Money Cry

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Eisenhower's new recommendations for changing some of the government's credit policies may start a second round of Congressional criticisms against "tight money."

It will be recalled that this was a major hassle last year. The Finance Committee under Sen. Harry F. Byrd and the Joint Economic Committee under Rep. Wright Patman held extensive investigations. Former Sec. of Treasury George M. Humphrey and Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin got pretty rough treatment in hearings that ran for days.

All this was before Sputnik. Also, it was before the current business "decline" set in last October. With credit easier now, last year's tight money issue is largely forgotten.

Chairman Patman has announced 10 days of hearings on the general economic situation beginning Jan. 27. But so far, the Byrd committee hasn't decided what it will do.

The Byrd committee has not even filed a report. This is interpreted by some Republicans as proof of their charge that the committee's investigation was largely motivated by politics.

FROM THE Democratic point of view, however, the Byrd committee might claim that the tight money policies it criticized last summer have now been reversed, in part, by the administration. On this basis, the committee's criticisms would be justified.

Actually, there has been no general relaxation of credit restrictions by the government. Federal Reserve Board has reduced its discount rate from 3.5 to 3.0 per cent, reversing the raise of last August.

The Philadelphia Federal Reserve Board reduced its discount rate from 3 to 2 1/2 per cent. Margin requirements for stock brokers' loans have been reduced from 70 to 50 per cent. And government housing loan conditions have been relaxed slightly here and there.

These are selective actions, however, designed to strengthen specific soft spots in the economy.

They have provided an excuse for some rather wild predictions that the government will soon loosen its credit policies all along the line, in further efforts to reverse the decline.

RECOMMENDED changes in credit policy in the President's Economic Report to Congress show as many proposals for tightening credit as for loosening it.

For housing, the administration does want to loosen credit still further. One proposal is to raise to $30,000 the maximum housing loan Federal Housing Administration may insure. Still another proposal is to increase the volume of FHA mortgages by three billion dollars a year for five years.

But on other programs, the administration wants to tighten housing credit policies. One proposal here is to increase the government interest rates charged on FHA loan insurance and Veterans administration loan guaranty programs.

Still another is to permit the government to increase Rural Electrification Administration interest rates.

In general, the administration asks that Congress give the heads of federal agencies wider authority to fix the terms of government loan programs which they handle.

Also, the administration wants to get government lending programs out of competition with private banking operations.

THE MAIN purpose of these last two recommendations is to get the costs of such programs out of the federal budget.

But the effects of such changes would be to raise interest rates, and thereby to tighten credit still further.

Spokesmen for the administration's economic policies insist that the so-called "tight money" policy was not a cause of the 1957 decline. Running down the list, they say that credit restrictions had no effect on defense spending, export or import trade, inventory reduction, the construction industry nor capital expansion.

It is admitted that there was plenty of yelling from general business and the construction industry on the shortage of money. But it is pointed out that the total volume of business for the year was good.

In spite of these arguments, there is considerable doubt that Congress will approve any new restrictions on credit.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—There must be 101 ways to detect a news story. It can happen in front of you, you can hear about it through police or firemen, you can cause it, and so on. Now, it develops, there are 102 ways. The 102nd is that your wife needs a picture in a hurry.

There is an eminent photographer in New York named G. Maillard Kessler, and in addition to having photographed kings, presidents, tycoons and reformed dictators he occasionally turns his lenses on actresses—if he approves of their work and talents after seeing their shows. About three years ago he turned his lenses on someone who shall be nameless, but she's awfully pretty and has talent.

SHE PHONED the other day and said in her customary crisp style: "The Guild needs some pictures for the U. S. Steel Hour thing I'm doing and MGM has me up for a movie and so does Fox and the last one I had taken looks like a sunny day at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904. Please arrange a sitting somewhere."

"You are utterly mad," I said, in my crisp way. "You had that Kessler sitting just under three years ago. Use one of those."

She remembered, and then asked me to call Kessler and get some prints made from "the serious one." So I called him and he said fine, but there were five serious ones and four smiling ones, and it would help if he knew. I told him to shuffle all five and then use the first one from the left and he said, well, it was an odd device, but he'd try it. And please pick up the prints at 11 a. m. the next day.

KESSLER, when not fussing with cameras, is an art collector and has the means to indulge these whims. His studio, which is his private house, looks like a touring version of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

At 11 o'clock the next morning I went—and found half of his house out in the street charred to a crisp and the other half in the back Renaissance garden—charred.

"What happened to you?" I said.

"Strange thing. A fire," he said. "I went out to dinner last

Just Hog Wallow After All

WASHINGTON—You might call this a correspondence lesson on how to get rich in the real estate business, without risking a dime.

You start with a hog wallow on the outskirts of Stockton, Calif., and all you need to be is an official of the Operating Engineers Union, Local No. 3, of San Francisco, so the members can finance your operations. They are unaware of this, but what they don't know doesn't hurt them much, only about $40,000 worth.

Ed Doran, who used to be the union business agent in Stockton until he got fired last July, explained about the money to be made in hog headquarters.

Every morning for 13 years he drove by three plots of land on his way to work at union headquarters. One contained the pigs. One was an abandoned potter's field, with 4,000 old graves. The third was a condemned trailer or court. They totaled six acres. Ed thought they'd made a fine place for the union's Stockton office.

So he phoned San Francisco that he could buy the whole works for $33,500. A couple of days later he discovered he could get the land for $29,500. The union management said go ahead at $33,500.

THIS ED DID. He bought the plots for $29,500, transferred them to his neighbor, who functioned as the dummy and resold the property the same day to the union for $33,500.

Ed took the $4,000 profit, paid income taxes on it, and handed the change to his boss, Vic Swanson, the union business manager, who also got the old hedgehog last summer. Vic slipped Ed $500 for his trouble.

Came then a genuine real estate man who wanted to buy parcel No. 3, where the pigs roamed, for $20,000. Ed called old Vic, who said the union gladly would sell it for $8,500.

THIS IS WHAT the dummy paid; then he sold it for the $20,000 and, after taxes and commissions, Ed had a profit of about $8,000. Duffily he handed this to Vic, who gave him a tip of $800.

"Didn't you ask for more?" demanded counsel Robert Kennedy of the Senate labor rackets investigating committee.

"Oh, no," said the egg-bald Doran. "I'm a peaceful citizen. I just went along."

THE SECOND parcel of land, which seemed to include the 4,000 ancient graves, caught the eye of another real estate man who offered $24,000 for it. Vic said the union gladly would take $10,858. The dummy went to

Barbs

A woman cashier in a bank in Michigan remained calm while being robbed, but not because she's used to being stuck up.

night and when I came back it was in flames. It will come to about $27,000, give or take a few big ones. Not a nickel of insurance. Not a penny. But the floor cleaners come at noon and the window washers at 2 p. m., and the trash haulers at 4 o'clock. I think I can dine in order and cleanliness by 8 o'clock."

"LOOK," I said, "this is all very jaunty of you and charming, but I know you had a few Sicilian statues and some easy-to-identify paintings by easy-to-identify masters around. Not mentioning some 500-year-old Florentine furniture. All uninsured?"

"Not a stick had a nickel," he said. "Disturbing."

"Well, I don't want to rake over the ashes of heart-break," I said, "but can we itemize a little. I loved some of your collection. Exceptional items."

"The Sargent went," he said, falling into a thinking posture. "Yes, that's gone. And two Renoirs will never be seen again. The Greek vase, little thing about 2,000 years old, crumbled in the heat. Those two Cupids from Rome and that object from Pompeii went. I never felt I could describe them for insurance purposes. Charming but so naughty. I haven't finished counting. And some rather desirable negatives of dead presidents and kings. Can't duplicate those."

"AREN'T YOU cutting things fine when you put it at $27,000? You can't pick up Renoirs and Sargents for that kind of money, and never mind the vase and the Cupids and some chairs I don't see. Baby, you have had a loss that will run far beyond that."

"No, it won't. The house damage is $27,000. Walls, floors, ceilings, all that. I can't count the art works, since they were uninsured and therefore uncollectable. Write them off all. Forget it. And notify the galleries and museums to strike the three paintings from the records. Have to do that to prevent forgery by someone, you know."

So G. Maillard Kessler had a fire, boys, and a Sargent and two Renoirs that you know of and have on record, are gone. That's the news story.

Ma's negatives? Not even scorched!

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — I look off my junior space man's helmet at the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee hearing the other day because I thought my ears were disintegrating. I imagined I heard a witness testify that a space program is rapidly becoming old hat and that if we want to be really up to the minute we should be thinking of an anti-space program.

I only wish my hearing had been playing me false, but unfortunately it was registering accurately. I checked—and established that the witness, Thomas G. Lanphier Jr., actually had said that what we should be working on now is a project for ridding space of space machines and space men.

Col. Lanphier is vice president of Convair, in charge of intercontinental ballistic missiles, but he used to be in the Air Force. He is the ace who shot down Admiral Yamamoto in World War II. By the end of his examination he looked as if he would prefer to be shooting down Senators.

THE TESTIMONY started me muttering to myself. I listened to what I was saying and this is what I heard:

"Well, we haven't shot a man into space yet, but already we're figuring on shooting him out. If we work out a scheme for doing this, the next step will be to invent a missile to shoot down the anti-space missile that shoots down the space missile. This is apt to become a vicious circle, as Sputnik II may have remarked to a meteorite it passed for the 300th time."

The subcommittee chairman, Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, declared dramatically:

"The ground has been swept away from beneath us."

A Republican conferee on the subcommittee, Senator Leverett Saltonstall, of Massachusetts, stated:

"We must keep our feet on the ground." A Democratic subcommittee-fellow, Senator Stuart Symington, of Missouri, asserted:

"We must leave no stone unturned."

I challenge you to put those three statements together without being seized with a mania to shoot yourself down from an unmanned platform. If the ground has been swept away from beneath us, how are we going to keep our feet on it, and go around turning over stones?

TO AN OLD POLICE reporter who had never left turned a stone beneath his feet on ground that had been swept away, the whole thing is phantasmagoric. The other day the Atomic Energy Commission granted a press conference. One of us asked Commissioner Willard F. Libby about an accelerator. The official transcript, so help me, shows that this is what Libby replied:

"When we first talked to MURA (the contracting company) we spoke to them about the concept of a dream machine, a machine to take a commanding position in higher energy physics. It is estimated now to cost, I think, $100 million as a horseback estimate. This is the machine. Their design as it firms up will give us a firmer figure, being a dream machine, a machine that is to be sort of the epitome of perfection in this field, it is a little bit amorphous and indefinite as to cost estimate."

I sometimes wish I could go back to living on nuts and berries in a cave.

Some Changes Sought In County Liquor Law

Changes in the Allegany County liquor laws are being urged by the Allegany County Alcoholic Beverage Association.

Legislation beneficial to the association was discussed with State Sen. Charles M. See and members of the county delegation at a meeting at the Court House. John M. Robb, attorney for the association, acted as spokesman for the group. He emphasized that one law change which the liquor dealers favor is the one concerning the sale of alcoholic beverages to minors. The present law simply states that the licensee holder must exercise "due care" in ascertaining whether a person seeking alcoholic beverages is of legal age. Robb said the association would like the bill to spell out the specific actions which the licensee holder should take.

The association spokesman said his group also believes the penalties should be more stringent on minors who falsify their age in getting alcoholic beverages. Robb also pointed out that the liquor laws allow Allegany County establishments to sell until midnight and yet on Saturday nights the tables must be cleared by midnight. It is a physical impossibility to sell until midnight and at the same time have the tables cleared, he noted.

Some license holders also would like to operate their establishments on standard time the year round rather than moving to fast time from April through October.

Concerning the proposed "due care" amendment, the legislators suggested that the liquor dealers work through their state association to get the Legislative Council to hold hearings and prepare suggested legislation for introduction at a state-wide measure in the 1959 session of the General Assembly. They expressed doubts that there is sufficient time now to muster enough strength to get action on the bill during the upcoming 30-day session which starts February 5.

All of the other matters discussed are strictly local and could not be considered until the 90-day session next year, the legislators added.

Members of the association's legislative committee, Casper R. Taylor Sr., Robert E. Robinette and Raymond D. Hanna, also conferred with the legislators.

Cattle Feed Program Set February 13

The program for the winter cattle feeding meeting to be held at the LaVale Fire Hall on February 13 from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. was announced today by Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

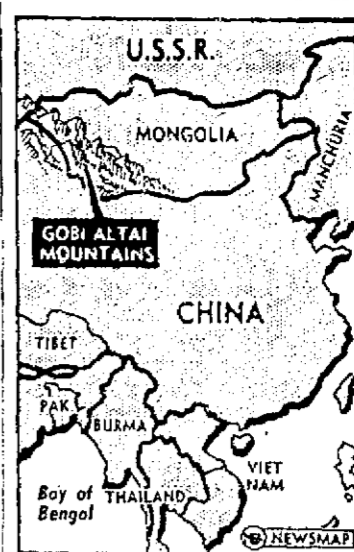

Steger said Charles P. Ellington, extension agronomist at the University of Maryland, will open the morning part of the program with a talk on alfalfa management with reference to fertilizing and liming, control of weeds and other factors in growing alfalfa crops.

Kenneth E. Felton, agricultural engineer, will discuss pen type and stall type barns. Steger said farmers who raise cattle are interested in the benefits of both type barns and Felton will outline the best features of both.

Boyd Whittle, livestock specialist from the university, will speak on new developments in cattle feeding. He will also tell of latest antibiotics which can be used. Whittle's talk will include information on latest developments in supplemental feeding programs.

During the afternoon Ellington will discuss good forage for beef and dairy cattle. He will also describe the new plastic type silos which are of a semi-permanent nature and in use in other sections of Maryland.

Steger said there will be some time devoted after each talk to questions and answers so that farmers will have a clear picture of the matter discussed. At lunch time a meal will be served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the LaVale Fire Company.

WM Railway Income Hits Top In 1957

Net income of $8,687,000 was reported for 1957 by the Western Maryland Railway, which amounts to $12.20 a common share, the largest in the company's history, according to W. Arthur Grotz, president.

Last year compared with $8,241,000 or $10.22 a share in 1956. In 1957 the gross operating revenue totaled $54,835,000. This all-time high was an increase of $2,390,000 over 1956.

Grotz said the 1957 record revenues were gained despite a decline of 5.3 per cent in the number of loaded freight cars handled. The gain was attributed to increased freight car loadings originating on the Western Maryland, plus higher freight rates.

Western Maryland's expanded fleet of freight cars and its low percentage of bad order cars, said Grotz, enabled the railway to obtain a net income of $4,508,000 from hire of equipment last year, compared with $3,263,000 in 1956.

Return Of Caesar-Coca Welcomed; Show Good

By JACK O'BRIAN
NEW YORK — (INS) — The return of Sid Caesar and Imogene and Sid worked gene Coca to TV by way of the very secondary second bar. ABC network last night was well-named.

The whole show had the eleventh hour importance ABC wish with one of their most hilarious es to stress: handsome Hugh shows ever, but it was good: good Downs was the announcer and the and funny, and well prepared. girl delivering the commercials. For the rating-conscious, Sid and Imogene fractured the opposition.

ABC brass were irate that their own $3,000,000 investment, Frank Sinatra, should pick last night to guest star on NBC-TV with Dinah Shore, opposite Caesar and Coca, but they needn't have bothered, according to Trendex, which reported the Caesar-Coca reunion registered a 25.8 in its 15-city survey, and in the New York area, a wow-wee 35.91.

Meanwhile, over in NBC's channels, Sinatra was taking his customary TV drubbing, accompanied by Dinah and Danny Thomas, who combined could build a total Trendex of only 14.5 nationally, trailing a pitiful third behind CBS-TV's General Electric Theatre's 21.6, which had the help of Alan Ladd.

In the New York Trendex survey, General Electric could cop only a 16.1 and Dinah-Sinatra Thomas a 17.1 in contrast to that huge Caesar-Coca rating of 35.9.

'M. D. International' Offers Study Of Selflessness

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—So rarely does night-time television seek to do more than entertain, a program such as "M. D. International," seen on "March of Medicine"

(NBC-TV), is memorable.

In examining the activities of American physicians in eight countries this excellent program

filmed by producer David Lowe and associates offered a study in selflessness—a human quality seldom developed at much length on the home screen.

The filmed documentary, especially attractive if seen in color, was consistently absorbing.

Its purpose was to give viewers

some idea of the humane activities of numerous Americans in remote parts of the world.

There was not time to give viewers much conception of the trying physical conditions under which physicians, both missionaries and others, work in the remote

Allegany Polio Chapter Spends $4,785 To Aid County Patients During Year

Allegany Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has reported $4,785.46 was spent last year for direct aid to polio victims in the county. A like sum sent to the organization's national headquarters presented the county's contribution to the National Foundation's research, professional education, and other programs. Refunds from services provided neighboring chapters amounted to $228.44. John H. Mosner, treasurer, said in the annual financial report that the chapter netted $9,947.69 from the 1957 March of Dimes. A new case of polio in 1957 and new polio is down drastically as a result of usage of the Salk vaccine, the great battle for the rehabilitation of polio victims is not finished. In 1957, 99 per cent of all March of Dimes patient aid funds were used to aid patients stricken in previous years. "These last figures demonstrate most effectively," Mosner said, "that while incidence of polio in 1957 and new polio is down drastically as a result of usage of the Salk vaccine, the great battle for the rehabilitation of polio victims is not finished. In 1957, 99 per cent of all March of Dimes patient aid funds were used to aid patients stricken in previous years." The chapter treasurer also reported that $1,000 represented the chapter's grant to the Allegany County Health Department to help finance the community Salk vaccination program. The Special Polio Evaluation Clinic in August, jointly sponsored by the Foundation, the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society and Allegany County Health Department, cost the March of Dimes $501.90. Over the past 20 years the March of Dimes has raised more than a quarter billion dollars from the American people. Of this, 61 per cent has been used in direct assistance to polio patients, 35 per cent financed all other aspects of the National Foundation's medical program. (Continued on Page 17)

The Hagerstown Daily Mail

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Pvt. Roland A. Fallin, U. S. Park Police, travels one of the longest "beats" in the county and, although he meets few people he is sometimes baffled by the attitude of some he does meet.

Fallin, who lives at Harpers Ferry, W. Va., and works out of Hagerstown, has the job of patrolling a 150-mile-long stretch of towpath along the old C & O Canal from Whites Ferry in Montgomery County to North Branch near Cumberland.

"So many people would rather not have a policeman around," said the 37-year-old, tall and affable policeman whose job is to protect National Park property and the public while it is on park property.

But the job of patrolling the towpath of the narrow strip that borders the Potomac on the Maryland side of the river, which is under the jurisdiction of the National Park Service, requires him to be a diplomat, an information center, a psychologist and a man who can talk to all kinds of people.

About 80 per cent of the people he meets—hunters, hikers, fishermen, picnickers and just plain lovers of nature—are happy to see him on his rounds. But a lot of the others have something to quarrel about.

For instance, chains are placed across the towpath at points of ingress. He said:

"Some people think that chains are meant to keep them off the property. The chains are there only to keep autos from using the towpath which was never built for auto traffic. Besides that, how could two cars pass on a roadway six to eight feet wide?"

Fallin who has made but two arrests in four years—in each case it involved a bus or trailer that someone had parked on the towpath—said his object has not been to make arrests, but to try to make people understand he is there to protect the rights of all who enjoy the park.

In both cases he said he issued a dozen warnings before taking action.

Fallin's job has been complicated by the attention focussed on the old C&O Canal route which is scheduled to be improved for boating, camping and other recreational activities by bills in the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives.

(The bill introduced by U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall at the last session of Congress was passed and an identical bill introduced by Rep. DeWitt Hyde of Maryland's Sixth District is pending.)

Park regulations forbid the discharge of firearms or carrying loaded guns. Fallin said duck hunters have complained of being restrained.

"We have never interfered with duck hunters," he said. "We only ask them to unlock the breach. I try to explain that the regulation is to protect them as well as others from an unintentional shot," he said.

In the Frederick County area, he said, many people actually complained to him that they did not feel safe to venture on the property because of the target shooting and indiscriminate use of guns.

Another big problem is the dumping of trash on the publicly owned property.

"We had to stop one man from dumping who contended he had been dumping for 15 years without interference," Fallin said. "Again we have to explain that the regulation is to protect the rights of others. If it were not the case the whole stretch of land from Great Falls to Cumberland could become a public dump."

He said some people are critical about federal ownership because of regulations on intoxicating beverages.

Again, he said, no one has ever been arrested for this. The laws about it."

At one place, near Sharpsburg, places would apply the same any alcoholic beverages had to be strictly prohibited because a group of businessmen complained that the broken bottles made it dangerous for children along the river.

Some people stop the officer while he is traveling by jeep, motorcycle or on foot and protest the idea of building a road on the canal route.

"It is sometimes hard to convince them there are no plans to build a road on the canal," he explained, said Fallin, that if buildings other than those by special permission were allowed to remain the area would soon cease to be a park.

Fallin said his greatest pleasure is in knowing that the vast majority of the public come to the land because they enjoy the wild and rugged country.

His job is to make the property safe. His biggest problem is building up understanding that the purpose of the Park Service is to make what was a no-man's land for many years after the canal ceased operation in 1924, a place of refuge and pleasure for all the public.

Most Papers Cost 7 Cents

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association announced today that the majority of newspapers published in the commonwealth today are sold for seven cents a copy.

In its new 1958 Pennsylvania Newspaper Directory, the PNPA listed 65 of the 125 daily papers published in the state as selling for 7 cents a copy.

The publication said 45 charge a nickel, most of the remainder charge less and one daily still sells its publication for two cents a copy.

Of 238 weekly newspapers, 110 charge five cents a copy, 79 charge 10 cents and 53 charge seven cents.

Seven of the state's 13 Sunday papers charge 20 cents a copy, five charge 15 cents and one charges 10 cents.

Meat Inspection

houses in order. Both the new regulations and state law provide courses of action against those who fail to comply.

The meat packers' organization has indicated that it, too, will throw its weight behind the department's regulatory efforts in the program to make the regulations wholly effective.

The regulations cover virtually everything from lighting, plumbing and drainage systems at slaughterhouses to cleanliness of personnel and of vehicles in which meat products are transported.

Dr. Green and others have emphasized, however, that the new regulations do not in themselves mean meat inspection. One specific section prohibits any labeling of meat to imply that the product itself has been inspected.

J. E. Earsom Convicted Of Obstruction

Two Grand Jury
Witnesses Allegedly Taken From Area

A jury in Allegany County Circuit Court deliberated less than half an hour today before returning a guilty verdict against James Edward Earsom, 49, city, on charges of obstructing justice by corruptly influencing and transporting two girls out of the county so they would not have to appear before the grand jury last October.

The two girls, Betty Lou Pryor, 19, of 124 Waverly Terrace, and Doris Ralston, 20, year of 427 Virginia Avenue, were driven to Washington last October 7, the day before they had been scheduled to testify before the grand jury.

Both girls had been involved in cases against Al's Chateau and Cadillac Lounge on charges of selling alcoholic beverage to minors. Both places were found guilty last week on these charges.

Stayed In Washington
The two girls stayed in Washington until taken into custody about October 16 and returned here.

After two and one-half hours testimony and opening statements before the jury, the case was completed with Judge Morgan C. Harris giving his instructions to the jurors.

Judge Harris said Betty Lou Pryor had not been properly summoned as she had been notified by telephone. This count in one of the two indictments against Earsom was dismissed.

The judge also instructed the jury that there had been no evidence introduced of any payment to Earsom for transporting the two girls to Washington by car.

The judge also said that even if Earsom received some payment there would have to be something to show that it was for the purpose of preventing the two girls from appearing before the grand jury.

Not Explained
Also noted by the judge was the fact that neither the state or the defense in the case had explained the two indictments of four counts each. One of these counts was dismissed as noted above.

Testimony in the case by the two girls, Doris Ralston and Betty Lou Pryor, was similar. They said they were taken to a tavern, known as Burkhardt's, in the Wiley Ford section when a phone call instructed them to go outside and a man would meet them.

When they went outside "some guy hollered, Betty", they testified. They were told to get in the car and on Virginia Avenue near the B&O YMCA, the man with them, later identified as Cortez Childress, stopped the car and the Ralston girl stayed in Childress' machine and the Pryor girl crossed the street and entered Earsom's car.

Had Argument
The Ralston girl said Childress drove her to the top of Green Ridge Mountain where they waited while the Pryor girl went to her mother's home in the Polish Mountain section to get her clothes.

At the Pryor home there was an argument with Allen Pryor, 19, a brother of the girl, objected to Earsom taking the girl to Washington. Allen Pryor, when asked to identify Earsom, pointed to James S. Getty, assistant state's attorney. Pryor wears glasses with very thick lenses.

Allen Pryor said he asked Earsom "What are you doing here?" "I'm just the chauffeur," Earsom replied, according to Pryor.

The Pryor girl said that Earsom had mentioned that she would only be away while the grand jury was in session. The Ralston girl testified that Childress gave her $150 while they were atop Green Ridge Mountain.

Pryor Had Shotgun
She also said that Earsom talked about the races while on the trip from there to Washington. She said they went to the home of friends she knew in District Heights.

The Ralston girl also said Earsom appeared excited when they were on the mountain. It was brought out that Allen Pryor had a shotgun in his possession when the dispute took place at the home of Betty Lou's mother. The Pryor youth told the jury that the gun had not been loaded and that Earsom had no business on their property.

No Defense Witnesses
Earsom did not take the stand during the trial and there were no defense witnesses. Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Earsom, said the defense had pleaded not guilty and it was up to the state to prove its charges.

In his opening statement, Ryan told the jury that Earsom had been approached by a man identified only as "Mr. Beard," a follower of horse racing, and requested to drive two girls to Washington. Ryan said Earsom apparently thought the man had some romantic ideas in mind and as Earsom was planning on driving to Baltimore he agreed to take the girls.

Ryan in his argument before

McKeldin Asks Tax Increases

Governor Mails Budget Calling
For $386,000,000 Expenditure

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. McKeldin ripped the veil of secrecy today off his proposals that Maryland spend more than $386 million dollars next fiscal year and raise its sales and income taxes to make ends meet.

In an unprecedented delivery of his budget message to the Legislature by mail, he urged that both taxes be hiked from two to three per cent.

He said this would bridge the $384-million-dollar gap between his spending proposals for the year beginning July 1 and the amount which experts say the State's present tax structure would raise.

The Republican governor also warned the Democrat-controlled Legislature that it must take two other steps to prevent the upsetting of Maryland's financial applecart.

Says Veto Necessary
One would be to sustain his veto of a controversial 1957 act to increase the annual pay of public school teachers by an average of $400 each. It would cost more than $124 million dollars a year.

The other would be to enact legislation offsetting a recent State Court of Appeals decision which could cost the State, county and local governments an estimated $22,800,000 a year in revenues from property taxes.

Graciously worded and carrying an "I-told-you-so" undertone, the budget message was mailed to the 152 members of the Legislature last Friday night. It is traditionally presented to the lawmakers after they convene, which this year is not until Feb. 5, but McKeldin granted Senate President Goldstein's request for a preview.

Total Broken Down
The $386,032,468 total is divided into three categories: $59,071,494 in federal aid funds, which are earmarked for specific projects or purposes and cannot be channeled elsewhere by the State.

$143,593,730 in special funds, which come from special sources within the State and, likewise, are earmarked for specific purposes; for example, gasoline taxes, which must be used for highways and other traffic facilities. $183,456,475 in general funds, which cover the basic upkeep of the government and the services it provides—education, health protection, law enforcement, etc.

All of the $384-million-dollar gap mentioned by the governor is in the general fund category. He would fill in $26,200,000 of this by boosting the tax from two to three per cent on your individual income and the first $500 on any income you have from investments.

Tax Hike Fill-In
The rest would be filled in by jacking up the sales and use tax. The levy would remain at two cents on purchases from 51 to 66 cents, but would go to three cents on a purchase of 67 cents-$1, four cents on a purchase of $1.01-$1.33 and so on—rising a penny for every 33-cent jump in the purchase price.

The income tax boost would apply to all money earned in 1958 and thereafter, but the sales tax raise would not become effective until Nov. 1.

That's because the governor's financial advisers estimate that would be soon enough to raise $12,776,050—the rest of the amount needed to fill in the gap—in the fiscal year covered by the budget.

Of the $183,456,475 the governor proposed in general fund expenditures, 42.9 per cent would be spent on education and related purposes.

Salary Increase Noted
The rest is broken down like this: Employees retirement and social security—19.2 per cent.

Services Set For Keyser Auto Victim

Charles W. E. See,
35, Crushed By Car Near Gore, Va.

Services will be held Wednesday in Winchester for a 35-year-old Keyser man who was crushed to death in an auto-truck mishap late Saturday on Route 50 one mile east of Gore, Va.

Trooper M. H. Moore of the Virginia State Police, who investigated, said the victim was Charles William Edward See, formerly of Winchester, who resided at 35 South Water Street in Keyser.

Trooper Moore said the man was killed instantly when he was crushed by an automobile driven by Franklin Page Haines, 19, Laurel, Md.

Truck Skidded Off Road
Police said See was operating a truck along the highway when the vehicle skidded and ran off the road. He was uninjured in the crash and was attempting to get his vehicle back onto the highway when he was struck by the Haines car.

Trooper Moore said Haines was also westbound on the highway and skidded in the same spot that See had skidded. The Haines car pinned See against his truck.

See was traveling alone at the time, but Mr. and Mrs. Guy R. Haines, parents of the driver, were passengers in the car. Both Mr. and Mrs. Haines were admitted to Winchester Memorial Hospital with minor injuries, police said.

World War II Veteran
See was born March 27, 1922 in Keyser and was a son of Alfred C. See, of Winchester, and the late Lena (Grimm) See who died six months ago.

He was a veteran of World War II and a member of the Salvation Army of Winchester.

Besides his father, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Pauline (Riggleman) See; three sons, Charles W. E. Jr., Robert and Mark See, all at home; a daughter, Miss Betty Jane See, at home, and a sister, Miss Mary Elizabeth See, of Winchester.

The body is at the Omp's Funeral Home in Winchester where services will be conducted on Wednesday at 2 p. m. by Rev. Joseph Duckwall, Presbyterian minister. Interment will be in Winchester National Cemetery.

The Mayor and Council today proclaimed February 23 as "Heart Sunday" in conjunction with the Allegheny-Garrett Heart Association fund drive.

LOOK AT OUR SNOW MAN—That's what Pat and Mike Helmstetter, three-year-old twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Helmstetter, 625 Fairview Avenue, are saying about the eight-foot high snow man in the yard of their home in North End. The king size snow man was made for them by their mother, with some help, of course. Incidentally, that's Pat on his hands and knees.

5,000 Spectators At Ski Carnival

Ideal weather brought hundreds of skiers into the mountains of the tri-state section over the weekend and an estimated crowd of 5,000 spectators trekked to the fourth annual Winter Carnival sponsored by the Washington, D. C. Ski Club at Davis yesterday.

While Saturday's activities at Cabin Mountain in Canaan Valley near Davis were curtailed by poor visibility, yesterday's conditions were perfect.

Near freezing temperatures, along with good visibility and two feet of snow made the carnival a success.

Tow Kept In Operation
The T-bar at Weiss Knob, also in the Davis section, will be running all week long for those skiers who wish to use the slope there.

Helmuth Heise, Deep Creek Lake, said approximately 450 skiers used the tow at Marsh Hill Mountain at McHenry on the lake yesterday.

And the weather forecast for this section looks like the snow will stay. Western Maryland and surrounding mountainous area is to have a few snow flurries today and tomorrow. The low tonight is to be in the 20s.

Some New Snow
The district office of the State Roads Commission reported Garrett County received about a half inch of new snow early this morning, and there was a light fall there before noon.

The main highways in the northern section of Maryland's "ice box" were from ten to 20 per cent bare. Other roads were covered.

The southern part of Garrett County received little or no new snow and Saturday's warm sun cleared off most of the main roads.

Thin Ice Reported
The Frostburg section had a thin film of ice over the snow and roads this morning early, but chains were not advised.

East of Frostburg to the eastern part of the county the main highways were bare. Side roads, of course, while having been plowed by the County Roads Department, were still partly covered.

Low temperatures this morning were 26 at Accident, 23 at Oakland, 28 at Frostburg and 24 at Cumberland.

Council Bond Issue Decision Slated Monday

The Mayor and Council will decide next Monday on whether a referendum on a proposed $500,000 urban development bond issue will go on a special ballot or be held over to the regular election this June.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan told council today it should decide one way or the other next Monday so the city could "get the ball rolling."

Validity of the bond issue was upheld by the Court of Appeals in a decision January 20. Originally the issue was to have been sold last May but because of petitions for a referendum has been under a cloud of legal doubt which was removed by the court decision last week.

Street Sewer Job Approved By Council

The Mayor and Council approved an ordinance today for the sewer and otherwise improving Clement Street after agreeing that efforts should be made to tie-in a property drainage problem existing on a number of lots there.

Under the ordinance, Clement would be sewer from a point 300 feet from its intersection with Virginia Avenue eastward a distance of 672 feet.

Mrs. Arrie M. Williams, 45 East Roberts Street, who owns six vacant lots on Clement, said she favored sewer the street but questioned the cost involved because lots she owns there are practically swampland because of drainage resulting from city work when the street was opened.

She said the city had made no effort to clear up the condition. She also said at least three homes on the street were tapped into a 48-inch interceptor sewer located 15 feet below the surface of the center of the street; that it "did not make sense" these people could tap the large sewer and others could not; and questioned why those tapped to the large sewer would not have to share in the cost of the new sewer.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said sewer of the street would come eventually anyway and that the longer it waited the more cost would be involved. He said the ordinance should be passed with the understanding that an effort be made to tie-in the drainage of the lots owned by Mrs. Williams be corrected.

As for tapping the large sewer, it was pointed out in the discussion that the entire expense of the tapping including the line from home to sewer had been stood by the property owners.

Cost of a new eight-inch sewer line would be less to the individual than tapping onto the interceptor sewer, Buchholtz said.

Council approved the sewer ordinance with the understanding that the drainage condition of the lots owned by Mrs. Williams be corrected.

Police Nab Trio Girls For Auto Larceny, Theft

BEDFORD — Three teen-age girls who admitted taking a car from Worcester, Mass., were apprehended yesterday by Pennsylvania state police, who reported the juveniles also admitted taking a sum of money from a motel in the Bedford Interchange area.

The three girls, who eluded authorities by traveling along rural roads during the early morning hours, were taken into custody three minutes after entering the Turnpike.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said they received a call about 1 a. m. from the motel, reporting the theft of the money.

One girl, they said, grabbed a sum of money while the motel employee was momentarily distracted by the other two girls.

Adjacent counties of Pennsylvania were alerted, as were Maryland State Police at LaVale. The three girls were taken to the substation at Bedford for questioning.

They are now lodged in the Ebersburg Detention Home for Juveniles pending further action by authorities. The parents of the juveniles have been notified, as well as the FBI and authorities of Worcester.

Rare Effigy Unearthed In Burial Mound

PPG Subsidiary Delays Expansion To Aid Excavation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The building boom and a bulldozer backed off a bit in favor of culture 3,000 years old in West Virginia recently.

Frank M. Setzler, curator of anthropology of the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum, has just returned from excavating the famous Welcome Mound near Moundsville, W. Va. He says it yielded important information on the prehistoric Adena people of the Ohio Valley.

The mound is located just 16 miles south of one of the largest Indian mounds in the United States—Grave Creek mound at Moundsville.

Mound Seemed Doomed. Welcome Mound seemed doomed to destruction, since the industrial area in which it is located is rapidly expanding. "A bulldozer could have leveled the 100,000 cubic feet of earth in a couple of days," commented Setzler.

Officials of Columbia-Southern Chemical Corp., a Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. subsidiary, became interested in the mound.

C. E. Wolf, director of the National plant, offered to supply equipment, labor, laboratory facilities and an engineer if the Smithsonian would supply the archaeologist to direct excavation.

Setzler spent Oct. 7 to Nov. 22 directing the work.

"One of the most remarkable specimens uncovered," Setzler said, "was a carved effigy tubular pipe" representing the head and neck of a shoveler duck.

Only Find Recorded. This was the only bird effigy recorded from an Adena mound. It is only the third carved tubular pipe from this cultural horizon, Setzler reported.

Also found were three adult human skeletons. A large canine tooth, possibly of a wolf, was found in the mouth cavity of a male skeleton. Setzler said this could indicate that the man was a tribal leader buried wearing a wolf mask similar to one found in an Ohio Adena mound.

The burials were regarded as unique because of the absence of non-perishable objects, such as stone, bone or shell associated with the dead, Setzler said.

Before a full report is made, the skeletal materials and other objects will be subjected to detailed study at the National Museum.

Rep. R. C. Byrd Still Candidate For U.S. Senate

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va. — Rep. Robert C. Byrd (D-WV) reaffirmed here today that he is a candidate for the six-year term in the U. S. Senate to be at stake next November.

Byrd, the state's 6th Congressional District member in Congress from Sophia, Raleigh County, visited here today. He said he was issuing a statement of reaffirmation "to put at rest all speculation" that he might be a candidate for the two-year unexpired portion of the term held by late Sen. Matthew M. Neely.

"In order to put my 6th Congressional District constituents at notice that I would not seek reelection . . . Byrd said today, "I announced last November that I would be a candidate in the Aug. 5 Democratic primary election for nomination . . . for the only U. S. Senate seat for West Virginia then known to be at stake in the 1958 election."

Byrd asserts that Neely's death last Saturday did not change his election plans.

Every year, it seems, we express an opinion that Cumberland's Dapper Dan dinner program is the best yet. And we're saying it again this year.

The benefit affair in the past has, on occasions, attracted more celebrities but never did so many athletic greats say so much in so little time as they did last night at St. Mary's Church Hall.

Joe Tucker, veteran Pittsburgh sportscaster, came up with an excellent idea as master of ceremonies. Instead of calling on the stars of the sports world to make speeches, the "Voice of the Steelers" interviewed them. This put them at ease and brought out just the things the 400 guests wanted to hear.

Lefty Grove, long noted for his brevity in speech-making, elaborated more than at anytime since we've been listening to his talks on the banquet circuit.

The Hall of Famer from Lonaconing called the 1929 Philadelphia Athletics the best of all A's teams on which he played but pointed out that the 1931 club had the best pitching staff. Three A's hurlers that season accounted for 72 victories, Grove showing the way with a phenomenal 31-4 record. George Earnshaw won 21 and lost 7 and Rube Walberg copped 20 while losing 12.

Lefty also paid tribute to Ty Cobb as the greatest player he ever saw, saying a team couldn't afford to hesitate a moment when the "Georgia Peach" was on the bases. "One slip and Cobb was on his way. When there was a close play, out went the pins of one of our players."

When Tucker asked Grove if a pitcher could get away with throwing only a fast ball in the major leagues, Lefty replied: "He sure can. I did it for 12 years and Walter Johnson for 15. After that we started throwing curves and other kinds of pitches."

Charley Keller, the onetime slugger of the New York Yankees, backed up Grove's statement. "I wasn't in the league when Lefty was in his prime but he sure showed me a lot of those curve balls. I think I was playing for the Yankees two years before I got a hit off him."

The great King Kong from Midtown "brought down the house" when he said no one ever got close to Grove when he lost a game. "Why he'd tear that uniform of his to shreds and it was not even safe to speak to him for several days," Charley declared. "He was a real competitor."

Keller labeled Joe DiMaggio, his Yankee outfield partner as the best all-around player he ever saw, called Bill Dickey the greatest catcher and said he never watched a better hitter than Ted Williams.

"I suppose there were some better Yankee teams, like the one which had Ruth, Gehrig and Muesel in the lineup, but the best I ever saw was our 1919 club," Keller declared.

Tucker also threw baseball questions at Dick Groat and Frank Thomas of the Pirates and Gus Triandos of the Orioles and Chuck Tanner of the Cubs, getting their reactions about last season and the chances for their teams in 1958.

From the professional football ranks, he called on Ray Krouse, the "mountain that walks like a man," and Earl Morrall. Krouse, the 275-pound tackle of the Detroit Lions, said no team played with any more spirit than the Lions. "There was little to choose among the top four teams in the Western Division of the National Football League and I think we won it the hard way," Krouse declared.

Morrall, quarterback of the Pittsburgh Steelers, lauded Buddy Parker as a great coach and predicted that the team would show a lot of improvement under his tutelage next season.

From the horse-racing world, Tucker fired questions at Del Miller, one of the nation's top harness drivers. Miller pointed out that his is practically the only sport in which there is no such thing as "past greatness." Del proved his statement by relating how he was beaten in one of the heats of the Kentucky Futurity last year by a man who was 79 years old that day.

The interviews ended with Cumberland's Kayo Christner and Tony Venzon, National League umpire, Venzon picked Cincinnati's Birdie Tebbets as the fiercest manager he had to face last season in "his first year as a policeman" in the majors.

Baltimore mayor Tommy D'Alessandro, a long-time sports enthusiast, was chided throughout the evening by toastmaster Tucker. D'Alessandro, however, got revenge by saying Tucker's Steel City last year in Baltimore, the mayor declared.

Rugged Duke To Test Unbeaten WVU Tonight

Blue Devils Regarded As Obstacle In Bid For 15

By FRED DE LUCA

NEW YORK — (INS) — West Virginia's undefeated and top-ranked Mountaineers figure that if they're ever going to lose a game this season, then tonight's the night.

The Mountaineers, with 14 straight wins to their credit, play tonight in Durham, N. C., against the Duke Blue Devils. Coach Fred Schaus and his boys feel Duke is the toughest opponent remaining on the schedule, and particularly on its home court.

Although Duke has only a so-so 6-and-5 record, the Blue Devils are very nearly unbeatable at home, dropping only four games on their own home court in the last five years.

West Virginia isn't discouraged, however, since it overcame larger odds last month to hand Kentucky its fifth loss at home in 15 years.

Still In First Place

The Mountaineers stayed in first place in the top 20 rankings, as compiled in a nationwide survey by International News Service, for a fourth straight week. The ranks of the elite were well shuffled but only one team, Niagara, in mid-week, became the 73rd victim in a row of St. Bonaventure on the Bonnies' court.

The new top ten: 1. West Virginia 14-0; 2. Kansas 12-2; 3. San Francisco 13-1; 4. Kansas State 13-1; 5. Cincinnati 13-2; 6. Oklahoma State 12-1; 7. Temple 13-2; 8. Bradley 11-3; 9. Kentucky 12-3; 10. North Carolina 12-3.

Second ten: 11. North Carolina State 11-3; 12. Dayton 14-2; 13. Michigan State 10-3; 14. Maryland 10-3; 15. St. John's of N.Y. 9-0; 16. Wichita 11-4; 17. Arkansas 11-3; 18. Notre Dame 11-3; 19. Oregon State 12-3; 20. Memphis State 10-3.

Terry Resigns As Sally Prexy

ATLANTA — South Atlantic League directors today accepted Bill Terry's resignation as president and officially trimmed the class A baseball group to six clubs for the 1958 season.

Twice in the past the directors were able to persuade Terry to withdraw his resignation but this time the former New York Giants star was adamant.

"I think the league will be stronger with a full time president," said Terry. "With my business commitments, I just can't devote enough time to the job." Terry operates an automobile agency in Jacksonville, Fla.

Bob Bonifay, Augusta general manager, said the directors "accepted the resignation" reluctantly. Vice president John Duncan of Knoxville will serve as acting president until a successor can be elected.

Columbus and Columbia have withdrawn from the league, leaving Jacksonville, Knoxville, Charleston, Augusta, Savannah and Macon as the remaining clubs.

CHERISHED SOUVENIR—Ten-year-old Ronnie Cook of Cumberland, representing the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, receives an autographed football from Rod Breedlove at last night's Dapper Dan dinner. Breedlove, winner of the local club's award for his great football season at the University of Maryland, was given the ball as a souvenir but turned it over to the crippled youngster.

Cooper Holds Title, Beating Mal Anderson

SYDNEY, Australia — Ashley Cooper retained his Australian tennis title today as he turned back U.S. champion Mal Anderson in the fourth set of his semifinal match with veteran Mervyn Rose.

With Anderson leading 6-2, 5-7, 6-4 their match was called Sunday because of darkness. When it was resumed today each player held his service through 34 games before the American title holder broke through his more experienced opponent in the 35th game and then held his own service for a 19-17 victory.

"I was a little tired after this morning's long set with Rose but I would not blame that for the loss," Anderson said. "Cooper played very well and he had the right shots at the right time."

Cooper disclosed after the match he had adopted changed tactics in battling Anderson.

"I kept on playing his forehand pretty well all the time and that paid off," he said.

It was their third clash since Anderson beat Cooper in the U.S. final last September. Anderson had won the two other meetings.

Angela Mortimer of Britain defeated Australia's No. 1 woman player, Lorraine Coghlan, 6-3, 6-4 for the women's title as she completed her sweep through the tournament without losing a set.

Ridgeley Home Tonight, One CVAL Game On Tap

Although both Fort Hill and Allegany are idle until tomorrow night, the local quints will be anxious to hear the outcome of a game being played tonight in Martinsburg involving a pair of Cumberland Valley Athletic League clubs.

Front-running Frederick, last year's champ, puts its lead on the line against Martinsburg on the Bulldogs' court. If coach George Whitacre's floormen upset the Cadets both the Sentinels and Campers stand to pick up ground.

Cadets Hold Game Lead

Frederick, victor in nine of 10 games for the year and five of six in the CVAL, holds a game lead over runnerup Fort Hill (4-2). Allegany (2-3) trails Martinsburg (3-3) by only a half game in fourth place.

The Bulldogs hit the .500 mark Friday night when a great exhibition at the foul line, in which they converted 30 of 39 attempts, helped down the Sentinels, 72-67. The triumph was the fifth in eight games overall for the West Virginians.

Alco will be at home tomorrow night when South Hagerstown invades Campobello while the Sentinels hit the road by traveling to the Hub City to meet the Yankees from North High.

The Hub, tied with Alco for fourth place on their 2-3 record, were beaten by the Sentinels, 65-48, on the local court. Alco and the Rebels will be playing their first game of the series.

The South cagers have yet to post a triumph in five CVAL tests.

Hawks Host To Indians

One other game occupies tonight's card with Ridgeley playing Mt. Savage on the Hawks' court.

Coach Tom O'Connor's quint, in addition to seeking its ninth victory for 15 starts, will also be out for a sweep of the Indians.

Ridgeley bagged a 52-44 victory in the first meeting.

Savage has been able to post only two triumphs in 12 tries this campaign, beating Oldtown twice, 66-40 and 44-35. The last conquest, coming Friday night, ended a 10-game losing streak for coach John Thomas' cagers.

Ted Williams Sees Heat As Aiding Ankle

NEEDHAM, Mass., — Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams expects heat treatments to heal his ailing ankle but the amazing 33-year-old American League batting king refuses to predict what he can do in the coming season.

Williams, here to exhibit fishing tackle for his off-season business, said yesterday, "the ankle doesn't bother me much."

The "Big Guy" who batted .333 in 1957 sprained his ankle on a Labrador fishing trip last fall but denied reports that some bones were broken.

Williams said the heat treatments Red Sox Trainer Jack Fadden will be able to give him the next few days "will take care of the twinges I get now when I run on it."

"There's nothing of any consequence wrong with the ankle," Fadden said. "I discovered a fragment of bone substance that probably changed position when he sprained his ankle last October. In my opinion, it is something he's had for a long time. Later, he has been feeling a bit of pain because of its shifted position."

Maryland Scholastic Athletic Policy Hit

Keegan, Hahn 'Blast' At Dapper Dan Dinner

The recent curtailment policies in the high school athletic program by state officials came in for criticism last night as an estimated 400 persons sat in on the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club's 10th annual benefit sports dinner at St. Mary's Church Hall.

Taking "pot shots" at the powers that be, Fort Hill High football coach Bill Hahn and former Dapper Dan president William V. "Keep your children's character and personality in your mind's eye," he added.

Mayor Roy W. Eves extended the city's greetings.

Father Arthur W. Bastress, St. Patrick's Catholic Church, who admitted to being a "rabid follower" of the Baltimore Orioles, said that the Dapper Dan club is doing wonderful work for our children and our future. "Keep your children's character and personality in your mind's eye," he added.

Short Dodger Barrier Seen Hurting Game

By BOB CONSIDINE (Distributed by INS)

NEW YORK (INS)—The Milwaukee Braves lost the National League pennant last week, three months before the opening of the 1958 baseball season could afford them the opportunity to defend it.

They were beaten by a decision made by Walter O'Malley about 2,000 miles away from Milwaukee. The decision was to play the Dodgers' games this coming season in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum. The Coliseum's left-field fence will be just 250 feet from home plate.

Lou Groza could place-kick singles, doubles and triples off that wall with a football.

A dub golfer, confronted by an 83½-yard hole would laugh incredulously, to start with, then choose a wedge and shorten his swing.

The Dodger people are making much of the fact that they will erect a 40-foot screen in front of those left-field bleachers whose not breaths will freckle home plate. They are saying, too, that the fence slopes away briskly, once a ball is driven elsewhere in left except straight down the line.

Still, the sorry fact remains that O'Malley, seeking prosperity, could easily pauperize the game by cheapening achievement and victory. It is not enough to fear that Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs might be topped by some fellow who would not have been considered worthy to hone the Great Man's spikes. We foresee a cascade of lesser hits ricocheting off that wire-meshed knock that would be caught in every other ballyard. But in Los Angeles, they will be transformed into run-producing and game-winning blows. The Braves would need two more Aarons and an additional saliva gland for Burdette to stay in power.

Giants And Tigers Ready To Pull Off 2-For-1 Deal

NEW YORK (AP)—The San Francisco Giants and Detroit Tigers marked time for waiver clearance today on the deal that would send first baseman Gail Harris and infielder Ossie Virgil to the Tigers for infielder Jim Finigan.

It was the only definite deal acknowledged in the weekend major league winter meetings.

Manager Bill Rigney of the Giants, who had said he was in the market for "an experienced outfielder" who could take some of the fielding burden off Willie Mays, said Finigan "definitely will stay with us." That removed Finigan, a third baseman-second baseman, from any part of any subsequent Giant deal for an outfielder.

The Tigers apparently were unable to get together on a deal with the Washington Senators — a club faced with the problem of dealing off Roy Sievers, the

The plan also met opposition in the American League, where Detroit took exception to the provision that a National League club could move into Tiger territory with no more authority than the approval of the National League.

Hurling-Rich Braves Boast Prize Rookies

3rd of a series on Rookies

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—The World Champion Milwaukee Braves, already boasting what may be the best pitching staff in the National League, will have in their midst two prize pitching prospects next spring.

The pair — righthanders Carleton Willey and Joey Jay—recalled from the champion Wichita club of the American Assn., are considered close to being ready. Willey, voted the Association's Most Valuable Player, made tremendous strides at Wichita last year. Setting for a 5-10 record and a 4.43 ERA only the season before. Willey turned in a remarkable 21-6 record in 1957, completing 17 starts and striking out 174 batters in 247 innings.

Impresses Haney
The 26-year-old impressed Fred Haney with his pitching in training camp last spring but the Braves manager reluctantly shipped him to Wichita because he had too many other good mound-men.

Jay, 23, has been kicking around for five years now. He was an 18-year-old bonus baby in 1953 and after serving the mandatory two-year term with the Braves, was sent out on option. He posted a 17-10 record at Wichita last year.

Two other newcomers rate consideration as relief pitchers—Phil Paine and Humberto Robinson. Paine, who had been up before, compiled a 1-59 earned run average for Wichita last year. Robinson had an 18-7 record at Toronto.

Spangler Not On Roster
Perhaps the most important newcomer of all is not on the roster. He is outfielder Al Spangler, a fleet Duke University alumnus who created a sensation at spring training in 1956 and then went into the Army. Spangler will be discharged in time to go with the club.

Also to be considered for an outfield berth is Ray Shearer, the long ball hitter who won the American Assn. Rookie of the Year title while hitting .316 at Wichita. He hammered 29 home runs and drove in 110 runs.

Shortstop Joe Taylor, who batted .312 at Atlanta, is regarded as a Brave of the future. Harry Hankins, who showed a lot of power, hitting 24 home runs at Wichita on a .292 batting average, may be kept for pinch hitting and reserve infield duties.

Stanbacks, Alka-Seltzers
Cop Carolan's Dux Wins

Two games were rolled in the newly organized Carolan's Tavern Bowling League, both being decided by 2-1 scores.

The league, which was formed for the patrons of Carolan's, is comprised of four teams. The first week of action had Stanback, settling Anacins, and Alka-Seltzers soothing Bufferins.

High scores were rolled by Mel Wright, 137-374. Anacins; Don Crabtree, 167-370. Stanbacks; John Reitmeier, 151-396. Alka-Seltzers, and Ed Downton, 135-396. Bufferins.

Giants' O'Connell Signs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Giants today received signed contracts from infielders Danny O'Connell and Andre Rodgers. Sixteen members of the National League team have signed their 1958 contracts.

Patterson Fighting Secret Bouts To Keep In Shape

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson has reportedly been fighting secret 15 round bouts with "good heavyweights" every two months to keep in shape.

Promoter Jack Hurley said yesterday that the reason that Patterson has not defended his title since he knocked out Pete Rademacher is because of taxes. He said, "Floyd can fight only twice a year, just like Marciano did."

Hurley, who promoted the Patterson-Rademacher match, said, "Patterson will never go stale. He spends almost all his time in training camp at Greenwood Lake. Once every two months, they bring a good heavyweight up there for a fight with the champ."

"It's the real thing, too. They weigh in, use six ounce gloves, schedule the fight for 15 rounds. These heavyweights are paid anywhere from $3,000 to $5,000 for their work. What difference does it make to Patterson? This is all tax money."

Hurley said he is distressed by people who opposed the International Boxing Club for years and now are knocking Patterson for not trying with its boss, James D. Norris, for a championship fight.

Hurley said: "Floyd had two fights last year, and he'll have two this year. He's right on schedule." He said he thought Patterson's next defense of his title would probably be in Houston, Texas, against Roy Harris, the undefeated heavyweight from Cut and Shoot, Tex.

Four More Redlegs Agree To '58 Terms

CINCINNATI (AP)—The number of Cincinnati Redlegs signed to 1958 contracts was increased to 24 today as three pitchers and a rookie outfielder sent in their agreements.

The latest signers included pitcher Hal Jeffcoat, a converted outfielder who had a 12-13 mark last season. Others were pitchers Marty Kutyna and Charley Rabe and outfielder Buddy Gilbert.

Warriors Win Fifth In Row Over Hawks

By The Associated Press
The Philadelphia Warriors, last place team in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn., show no respect for the position of the unsteady St. Louis Hawks, leaders in the West.

The Warriors, trailing in a skintight race for the East's third and final playoff position, dumped the Hawks 125-112 last night in St. Louis. It was Philadelphia's fifth straight victory over the Western leaders. They have lost once to St. Louis.

The Hawks also lost to Detroit 105-98 Saturday night and their lead was sliced to 6½ games over second-place Cincinnati. The Hawks led by 10 several weeks ago.

Cincinnati gained ground yesterday, catching Detroit in the final minutes to win 107-103 at home. In other Sunday action, Boston, Eastern leaders, evened a weekend home-and-home series, defeating second-place Syracuse 118-95. It was the Celtics' 16th straight home victory. Also, New York stepped .001 percentage points ahead of the Warriors by defeating Minneapolis 109-105.

Saturday, Syracuse whipped the Celtics 112-110 in Syracuse and New York set a scoring record for the 69th Regiment Armory court in New York, beating the Lakers 128-118.

Lawrence Back At City College

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Harry L. Lawrence resigned today as football coach at Bucknell University to become guidance counselor at Baltimore City College.

Lawrence's resignation will become effective Jan. 31. He will take over his new post at Baltimore Feb. 3.

Lawrence has directed Bucknell's grid fortunes for the past 11 years. His teams won 45 games, lost 31, and tied 1.

A native of Baltimore, Lawrence was graduated from Westminster Maryland College, where he played halfback. Since becoming a football coach at Bucknell he obtained his master's degree in guidance and administration.

In going to Baltimore City, Lawrence will be returning to the school where he began his coaching career. During a 10-year reign, his City College eleven posted a remarkable 69-10-6 record and went undefeated for six consecutive years.

Lawrence served in the U. S. Navy during World War II, attaining the rank of lieutenant commander.

Birds Bag Bonus Beauty For More Than $110,000

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles got Dave Nicholson in the latest battle of big league baseball's bill-folds.

For a week the lineup at the door of the 18-year-old outfield prospect looked like a roster.

Dave signed a Baltimore contract along the trail, tract yesterday and tucked away Nicholson's estimated $110,000 bonus check estimated at $110,000 or more.

During the week 15 teams went to the bidding block for the husky got about $125,000 from the Bos-right-hand hitter. Only the Detroit Red Sox in 1952. Others in the trot Tigers passed.

The Nicholson family at the last Milwaukee Braves catcher signed minute called in a tax consultant last year, and pitcher Paul Pettit, to give an opinion on the offer a 1950 acquisition of the Pirates.

Although Nicholson did not graduate with his Southwest High School class last week, having been withdrawn from school a year ago, he had a definite interest in the exercises. It was not until then the bidding could begin.

Dave said: "The Orioles offered the best future. I think I'll have a chance to reach the majors faster."

He will join the Oriole spring training camp at Scottsdale, Ariz., and Oriole observers will be watching to see if his 217 pounds fit into what has been regarded as a weak outfield.

Nicholson's playing experience is limited to high school ball and the Ban Johnson League, where he went undefeated for six consecutive years.

Del Wilber, one-time Cardinal catcher and now an Oriole scout, turned the trick for his club. He made only one offer—at the very

Duplicate Play Has Difference

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand taken from the recent National Championships shows the difference between rubber bridge and duplicate play.

All South players chose to open one no-trump rather than one spade and all North players raised to three.

West would open his fourth best heart and South would gather in the trick with the ten. At this point correct rubber bridge tactics would be to go right after the five card spade suit and play those declarers who did that would wind up making four no-trump. Those who wanted better things simply led a diamond at trick two and finessed dummy's ten.

The way the cards lay this forced East's ace but it didn't really matter too much if it lost and be alert to those who would use their generosity for their selfish gain. Your underlying traits are good, so do not permit them to be overshadowed by faults that are correctable, and by your efforts to keep your eyes on the prize, keep improving your education. and a bare 4 per cent was applied to administrative costs. Mr. Mosner disclosed that it cost $908.08 to administer the program locally last year.

"We do not often realize," said Mosner, "how substantially organizations such as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis contribute to our local health and welfare program. They go along with little fuss and bother providing a basic public service without which there would be a critical gap in our community."

to the jack. The point is that East invariably led back his fourth best spade. South allowed this to ride around to dummy's nine and West would be in with the jack. Now South would make four spades tricks instead of three and would wind up with five no-trump instead of four.

Of course if East had decided to lead something other than a spade South would probably have made four odd only and it also should be noted that South could have played the spades himself and made four spade tricks but that would practically require clairvoyance while once East was persuaded to break the spade suit all South needed was normal play.

Proposed salary raises for State employees would amount for $3,300,000 of the $19,716,374 increase in general fund outlays.

The governor noted that his program is essentially the same as the one he submitted to the lawmakers three years ago. They rejected it and substituted a string of other revenue-raising measures then and in the years since to avoid increases in major taxes.

Some members had urged that the Democratic leadership accept his program for big tax increases then, rather than be faced with a need for doing so this year, when legislative elections will be held.

Substitute Plans "Lacking"

The governor, ineligible for a third straight term, referred to the substitute money-raising plans first when he cited three reasons for this year's budget balancing problems. He said the substitute plans were "lacking in permanency."

The other reasons, he said, were the "leveling off of the economy" and resultant loss of State revenues, and the usual factor in modern government — bigger population, improved services, rising personnel costs, etc.

In urging the legislators to sustain his teachers-pay bill veto, McKeldin said:

"In addition to the sound reasons for sustaining my action, as cited in my veto message, I must now point out to you that the latest estimates furnished to me by the State Superintendent of Schools, by the director of the retirement systems, and by the Sales Tax Division of the Comptroller's office make it very clear that the income which the bill would raise would not support its cost."

More On Cigarettes

The bill provides a three-cent-a-pack cigarette tax to finance the pay raise, but the governor said he was advised that this would fall more than 2 million dollars short of the 12 1/2 million needed.

Besides, he said, some local governments are already taxing cigarettes, as much as five cents a pack in Baltimore City and Baltimore County.

"The State cigarette tax, if passed over my veto, would mean for cigarette smokers in the city and county a tax of eight cents per package, increasing the detrimental effects on the business in those areas, and even seriously injuring their revenues."

The Court of Appeals property assessments decision mentioned by McKeldin resulted from a case brought by Sears Roebuck & Co. The department store and mail-order firm won its protest that it was being discriminated against because its inventory was assessed as market value while real estate assessments included an allowance for "inflationary factors."

The practical effect of the decision, most lawyers and State tax officials agreed, would be the lowering of personal property assessments covering inventory, rather than the raising of real estate taxes.

The governor said he has been "advised that legislation to remedy the situation by making legal" the use of different standards for assessing the two types of property—inventory and real estate—would result in huge revenue losses to the State, city and county governments, he made clear, is now up to the Legislature.

Fletcher "Horried"

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher in his closing argument to the jury said the entire incident had shocked and horrified him. He said it was the first time he ever remembers anyone trying to tamper with a jury in Allegany County.

Suggest Ryan For New Unit

A list of eight lawyers has been submitted to Gov. McKeldin by Maryland labor leaders as their recommendations for appointment to the new Workmen's Compensation Commission, with Edward J. Ryan, local attorney, as one of them.

The Maryland State-District of Columbia AFL-CIO followed the lead of three bar associations in suggesting that the five new commissioners be picked from those on its list. Similar lists had been submitted earlier by the Baltimore and State bar associations and by the Maryland Plaintiffs Bar Association.

Recommended by the state-D.C. AFL-CIO were three members of the present State Industrial Accident Commission, which the new agency will replace—Lester Crowther and Helen Elizabeth Brown of Baltimore and Daniel Doherty of Rockville.

Also on the list was J. Howard Holzer of Baltimore, a former member of the industrial accident agency.

Others recommended were Thomas Glass, Frederick; John Dwyer, Rockville, and William H. Murphy, Baltimore.
